

home > ascutney lab carafe

ASCUTNEY LAB CARAFE

$150

Boasting the unmistakable shape of a science lab beaker, the Ascutney Lab Carafe is the perfect instrument for all manner of mixology.

see product details
quantity

add to basket

add to registry add to wish list share
write review

about this piece

reviews (0)

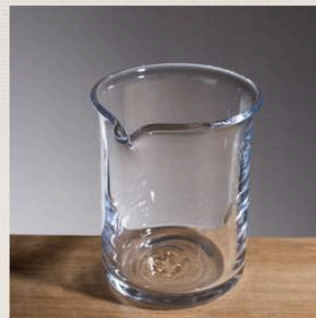

Boasting the unmistakable shape of a science lab beaker, the Ascutney Lab Carafe is the perfect instrument for all manner of mixology. This modern shape is given the prestige of our centuries-old glassblowing tradition, resulting in a weighty, balanced hand-feel, crystal clarity throughout the piece, and a hand-finished opening and small spout for the perfect pour. A match for our other Ascutney barware, picture this carafe as the imaginative centerpiece of your home bar or as an outstanding gift for someone who's just beginning to build theirs.

- Handmade in America by Simon Pearce glassblowers.
- Created from lead-free glass using centuries-old techniques.
- Hand-wash with warm water and mild detergent.
- Not intended for use in microwaves or ovens.
- Do not expose glass to extreme heat changes, such as filling with hot liquid or placing in the freezer. A shock in temperature can cause fractures.

details

item #:	5875
collection:	Ascutney
material:	Glass
style:	Contemporary
country origin:	Made in USA
measurement:	H 10¾ x W 7¼ x D 7¼
category:	Barware
subcategory:	Carafes
engraving available:	No
capacity:	66 oz

YOU MAY ALSO LIKE

Ascutney Lab
DecanterAscutney
Carafe &
Glass SetAscutney Bar
PitcherAscutney
Cocktail
Pitcher