Hannah is ready to be a dietitian. Her communication skills and note writing was effective and professional. I had minimal comments on Hannah's notes. Hannah built rapport with all her patients and they valued the services she provided. She was very engaged with her patients and provided various interventions to help improve their nutrition status. The BMT valued Hannah's comments on rounds. Hannah was also very good with time management during staff responsibility. If she had a busy day, she came in early to get her work done before class/clinics. Hannah was very positive and enjoyed every second of staff responsibility. She was responsible and took initiative. She appreciated feedback and was open to suggestions. She was an excellent intern to precept and I am excited to see where she ends up as a dietitian!
