

Emerald earrings- Rich, royal and versatile

It's human nature that we love to possess and preserve things that seize our attention. Not only this we also love to use our creativity to construct and enhance raw objects as auxiliary creators to nature. Same applies to origin of emeralds. This color wealthy stone once infixed in earth's body obliged our creativity to work on it. The result is lushly green and purely beautiful. Due to its enriching green color one of the best ways to wear emerald is as earrings.

Earrings are not merely a type of jewelry but they play a prominent part in modifying facial beauty by uplifting features and emphasizing eyes and hair. You won't get noticed if you are missing your usual neckpiece or a ring but absence of earrings would make a big difference. Colored gemstone earrings are very much in fashion due to their ability of carrying any look with great ease. They are also favored for their vividness and complimenting nature.

If you wish to achieve an intense, attention seeking look, go for earrings with splash of luxuriant green emerald. When primary colors are in their pure basic hue they work well as base adding great body and substance to anything. This is how emerald renders your face with clear definition and depth when used as center piece for earrings. Emerald stud earrings look bold, sincere and settled in yellow gold. On the contrary, they boost pep and fizz when twinned with white gold and diamonds. Danglers and drop earrings in emeralds are breathtakingly posh and royal. They are perfect to accompany you at grand events helping you make a style statement. Emeralds are specially preferred for elaborate danglers and chandeliers as they are easily available in large sizes.

If you are the type who loves to carry elegance and class as your usual personality, you can adopt emerald to be a part of your daily wear in the form of hoop earrings. The good thing about hoop earring is that apart from being comfortable they also offer a decent range of choice to experiment with. Hoops with channel set emeralds can upgrade you to a clean and imperial everyday look. If you really wish to stand out make your emerald hoops matchless by pairing them with diamonds.

Although emeralds are valued for their rich green color in medium to dark tones, the color preference really depends upon the design and the kind of earrings. Even though emeralds in lighter tones with yellowish secondary hue are not valued as much but they look extremely gorgeous in contemporary designs in yellow gold. So when it comes to earrings emerald is surely a delight. Nothing can match the beauty and the grandness that it offers you.
