

Instructions to PSA Use

Website Address: <https://sites.google.com/a/ncsu.edu/21st-century-teaching-learning/home>

PSA Developer: Will Miller, NC State University Graduate Student

This public service announcement is meant to provide information about 21st Century Learning. On the home page you will find questions that a majority of people have concerning 21st Century learning. By clicking on those questions, you will be guided through a brief tutorial that will answer those questions. The target audience of this PSA is adults, but 8th through 12th graders would be able to use this information as well. The PSA is a collection of information from across many different sources of information. There is also an additional resources page on the website where one can continue to read and learn more about 21st Century Learning and other topics addressed in the PSA. Hopefully this website will make you more aware of what is, or should be, going on inside of k-12 schools.