

A&S Alumni Spotlight

Sept. 6, 2012

The College of Arts and Sciences E-Newsletter

Volume 1 Issue 1

Read more about outstanding A&S Alumni:

- India native researches quantum optics at OSU
- High-powered career built on student council leadership
- Attorney attributes skills to student council experience

Regents professor promotes hands-on learning

Winner of top teacher awards and honors for his books, Charles Abramson is a favorite among his students. Abramson studies, among other things, the effect of alcohol on bees and the application of the results to human problems. As a professor, he advocates students asking questions and learning how to think.

Fulbright grant recipient plans to teach overseas

Christy Milliken's interest in culture is exemplified by her organization of a conference on Islam in 2007 for the A&S student council. Milliken taught English classes in China for two months, starting in June of the same year. As a result of her experience, she plans to pursue overseas teaching and has received a Fulbright grant to make this possible.

Environmental sociology professor stimulates international interest in field

Riley Dunlap, one of the founders of his field, helped organize a conference in China on environmental sociology. This demonstrates the worldwide spread of interest in his discipline. The OSU Regents professor also strives to raise awareness and understanding of environmental problems among his students.

Stillwater doctor remains loyal to OSU

Dr. Mark Ebert attended OSU for his undergrad, graduated from the OU College of Medicine, and completed his residency at OSU Tulsa. Ebert and his family reside in Stillwater and attend OSU football games regularly. He works in obstetrics at the Stillwater Women's Clinic.

Oklahoma State alumna credits campus leadership opportunities for success

Anne Scott, former program director for the OSU Alumni Association, served on the College of Arts and Sciences Student Council her senior year. Scott attributes her successful career to the management and organizational skills she learned while at OSU.

Contact: Lorene A. Roberson at (405) 744-7497 or lorener@okstate.edu. Find more information about A&S Alumni.