

Lale Samara
Section 2
Oct. 4, 2012

Father's job promotion opens new doors for daughter

She has lived in three different countries, allowing her to travel the world at a young age. This journey has shaped the person she has become and her future aspirations.

Meghan Danks was born in Toronto, Canada and moved to Frisco, Texas at age 7 where she was heavily involved in her school's soccer team. After living in Texas for five years her father received a promotion within his satellite communications company and the Danks family moved to Cranleigh, England. While living in England for two years, Danks realized this is where she wanted to spend the rest of her life.

This experience allowed her to travel across the country of Europe making memories that she will have her whole life, like being recruited for the women's Chelsea Football Club development soccer team. The first year of her life in England, Danks visited Spain, France, Italy, Czech Republic, Belgium, Germany, Ireland and Scotland. Czech Republic made the top of her list of her favorite countries because Prague was the most beautiful city she has ever been to. The second year of living abroad the Danks family was able to visit Egypt and Jordan. Danks' favorite part of Jordan was visiting Petra, where Indiana Jones was filmed.

After living across seas for two years the Danks family moved back to Frisco, Texas where Danks attended Liberty High School and continued to play soccer on the school's varsity soccer team. After graduation, Danks made another travel to Stillwater, Okla. to continue her school career. She now is a junior at Oklahoma State University studying strategic communications and an active member of her sorority, Zeta Tau Alpha.

Danks plans to continue traveling for the rest of her life. She eventually hopes to move back to one of her favorite countries, England, and find a job where she can mix her love for fashion and communications together.

###