

— Giving to the Children —

Imagine it. You are only 5 years old and you are told you have cancer. You don't understand, but your parents are distraught and stressed about your childhood, your health and how they will pay the medical bills. This is where Payton's Toy Box comes in.

Payton's Toy Box is a nonprofit organization that provides toys and funds for children fighting cancer.

The organization takes pride in providing for those in need during difficult times in their lives. Apart from a child losing an important part of their childhood, there is a large financial burden that accompanies cancer.

Payton's Toy Box raises funds to help families pay their medical bills in their time of need. Help in this area can ease a families strain and help them to focus more on their child's happiness.

Payton's Toy Box does not only focus on the medical bills. The organization also focuses on the child's happiness.

Each time a child is stuck with a needle or goes under any procedure, they get to choose a toy out of the toy box. This helps the children to still experience joy and happiness in life and helps them to feel like a normal kid.

Payton's Toy Box also uses its funds to help make the living conditions in the hospital more comfortable for the child and their family. Since cancer is often accompanied by extended stays in hospitals, it is important to make that stay as comfortable as possible.

The organization has provided individual hospital rooms with flat screen televisions, Play Stations, miniature refrigerators and recliners. It has also donated washing machines and dryers to the hospitals. These donations offer a more comfortable and relaxing living situation when a child must stay in the hospital for an extended amount of time to receive treatment.

Payton's Toy Box also hosts events such as t-ball and Frisbee. This gives the children a chance to get outside, play in the sun and enjoy being a child.

It is important to Payton's Toy Box to keep both the child and the family's spirits high.

— Fundraisers —

Payton's Toy Box hosts several fundraisers each year, including formal dinners, carnivals and its largest fundraiser of the year, the Tee Off For The Kids golf tournament. The organization hosts at least one event every other month to raise funds for its cause.

All the proceeds from these events go straight to Payton's Toy Box to help pay medical bills and donate toys to the children and families in need.

The special part about each fundraiser is that the organization brings out the hospitalized children and their families. This gives them the opportunity to meet the people and donors who are out there supporting them in their fight against cancer.
