I currently own and operate a graphic arts design and production facility which provides partial to complete graphic services for a wide range of applications and clientele. (See Amplification, Page 2)
These services include design, estimating, typesetting, photography, illustration, silkscreen printing, airbrush and spray painting, wood/plastics/metal fabrication of exhibits and displays, outdoor 3D signage and kiosks, and the maintenance, servicing, upgrading and traffic-management of exhibition booths and related materials into various exhibition centers located in the United States and abroad.

May'78 to Jan'81: Art Director / Graphic Designer / Photographer / Silkscreen Printer / Sales Rep
Oak Brook Graphics
287 West Butterfield Road, Elmhurst, IL 60216
Phone: 708-833-3200
Employed: 3 years
Owner: Robert Golo

I coordinated art production for all phases of graphic design relating to printing applications.
My active duties included estimating, creative design and layout, B/W high-contrast and continuous-tone photography, 35mm on-location photography, airbrush photo retouching, silkscreen printing, and directing freelance artists, typographers and printing firms to accomplish minor to major advertising agendas for various clientele in the commercial and industrial arena.

I resigned my position shortly before moving my family into the State of Wisconsin, USA.

Jun'70 to May'78: Graphic Designer / Photographer / Typographer
Edenk Studios, Inc.
601 West St. Charles Road, Maywood, IL 60153
Employed: 8 years
Owner: Emil Denk

This firm specialized in providing graphics for the exhibit and display building industry.
Working from blueprints, we produced the artwork for approximately 12 exhibit builders in the Chicago area.
My duties began with typesetting and hi-contrast photography, and within two years the firm grew substantially to where I became responsible for staffing and directing an art production department with four artists to aid me in preparing art & films for the production of silkscreen-printed graphics.

This firm closed-down after the owner discovered he was terminally ill.

I have been working with this museum foundation for several years in upgrading their signage systems to resemble better continuity within the entire museum complex. Numerous large format photo displays enriched with texts and archive materials has also been part my efforts in the highlighting of new displays and in revising existing areas of display material within the complex. In 1906 I was commissioned to create and produce a 20' portable traveling exhibit named, "Wisconsin's Flying Trees – Wisconsin's Plywood Industry's Contribution to WWII". This exhibit has been traveling throughout the USA the past two years for exhibition within many renowned museums & institutions.

Orbis Group

1055 Corporate Ctr Drive
Oconomowoc, WI, USA 53066
1-800-999-8683
Contact: Cyndy Steindorf

I have also worked with this division of the Menasha Corporation for the past 12 years by providing them trade show services that include the traffic management of their 10 exhibition booths. I was responsible for maintaining the appearance and updating the graphics for approximately 20 shows annually. I merged product sample and display material into convention centers throughout the United States, Canada, Mexico and Germany. I have completely restored their 40' "in-line" custom booth for the ease in reconfiguration into "island" and "corner" applications. When the company reorganized in 1996 by bringing together 4 different companies to form the Orbis Group, I produced the new identity materials to completely upgrade their graphic requirements for these booths.

Presto Products Company

670 North Perkins Street
Appleton, WI, USA 54913
920-738-1132
Contact: Gina Brennan

This company has utilized my services for the past 15 years to provide them with the repair, overall maintenance and refurbishing needs of their exhibition booths. I have maintained their tradeshow booth requirements ranging from small 10' booths to 40' bi-level custom exhibits. This included the design and production of new graphics for the ever-demanding need to present a fresh appearance and a new look for the next year's agenda. I also was instrumental in developing numerous semi-permanent airport displays and created large-scale mock-ups of their product which were used for exhibition props.

Oshkosh Public Museum

Working in association with the art director of this museum, I have provided many different types of silkscreen printed graphics for both temporary and permanent display installations. I have been challenged in providing some very unique applications of silkscreen process printing which demanded minute detailing and multiple-colors on difficult materials such as slate, glass, wood and textured fabrics. I've fabricated many panels whereby I printed the graphics for mounted artifacts and photos.

Menasha Corporation

1645 Bergstrom Road
Neenah, WI
(920) 751-1906
Contact: Kristy Pavletic

I have worked with this corporation for the last 15 years by providing them with unique exhibition and related products for the corporate headquarters division. Among the many airport displays display and multiple exhibition booths created were award-winning revolving displays for product merchandising and interactive DFI kiosks at an airport display window that commemorated their 150th year in operation. A new display has been designed that utilizes unique lighting features, moving objects and also the upgrading of the existing interactive DFI kiosk, and this display is slated for completion before the end of this year

Fox Cities Bank

420 North Koeller Road
Oshkosh, WI, USA 54902
920-236-3680
Contact: Sharon Slover

My work began in serving them with ad agency services which led into the creation of a new logo and identity package that was used to reinforce and launch their 100th consecutive year commemoration of business in the Fox Valley. In addition to this achievement, I also produced the artwork and key lines for a 1986 commemorative calendar that was awarded a national first-place award in the design and production standards within the banking institutions in the USA. I continue to provide exhibit services for their trade shows by upgrading their graphics and refurbishing requirements for a 10' island-unit display.

City of Omro, WI

Chamber of Commerce
330 West Main Street
Omro, WI, USA 54963
920-685-6960
Contact: Marketing Director

Most of the work performed for my hometown city was related to outdoor signage systems for identity by means of road signs and building signs. Among the most rewarding projects was an outdoor-lighted directional kiosk located on the Main Street which offered directional and current events information to visitors and residents alike. The newly-developed community center utilized my services to provide them with a large-scale recognition board to give thanks to the many donors that contributed. I also provided silkscreen-printed metal plaques for a directional walking-trail of historical sites.
